Perdido Key, FL

*Where a Sanctuary of Luxury
Meets a Sanctuary of Nature*

Life Well Lived

Welcome to La Vista. This is what you strive for. You are among a fortunate few who have found one of the last places on the Gulf that rests adjacent to acres of a pristine beach-front State Park. What does that mean? It means at La Vista, you are guaranteed no future development to your west or southwest. Nothing will obstruct your breathtaking views of suns setting over turquoise waters and sugar-white sands, or dolphins spiraling in and out of the water during their beautiful afternoon swim. On the Gulf side, La Vista boasts 185 feet of pristine white sand beachfront. The location is truly one of La Vista's greatest amenities.

This isn't just retirement or a second home or even a vacation...this is what we all dream to find, experience and share.

Time with Family and Friends Well Spent

Located on a narrow strip of snow white beaches and crystal blue waters, Perdido Key is located in the Northwest Panhandle of Florida, between Pensacola, Florida and Orange Beach, Alabama. No more than a few hundred yards wide in most places, Perdido Key stretches some 16 miles, with almost 60 percent of it located in federal or state parks – making it one of the last remaining unblemished stretches of wilderness in the Florida Panhandle.

With an average annual temperature of 75 degrees and 343 days of sunshine, it's not surprising the Key is a long-hidden retreat that blends together both year-round outdoor activities and an authentic laid-back lifestyle uniquely its own.

A modern high-rise building with curved balconies and large glass windows, overlooking a beach and the ocean. The building is white with blue-tinted glass. The balconies have white railings. The ocean is a deep blue, and the sky is a lighter blue with some clouds. The beach is sandy and has some greenery.
